Preparations Made Against A General Coal Mine Strike

Photos by American Press Association.

WITH coal miners in Great Britain, France, Belgium and Germany leaving their work—and in the first named country causing a general suspension of industry—and those of the anthracite and bituminous regions of the United States threatening a strike the nation and consumers of the eastern cities have naturally been concerned over the prospects of a coal famine in this country. In preparation for such an eventuality great stocks of coal have been accumulated in the storage yards near New York, and the Pennsylvania operators have been rushing the coal through the mines and screening to the great distributing depots.

Washington, March 23.—Proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, Representative Lindberg of Minnesota is busy on a resolution for the abolition of the senate and office of vice president. The Lindbergh resolution will provide for a house of representatives of 215 members, with no upper branch. Three hundred members would be elected for terms of seven years. Fifteen of the members would be elected by the country at large, each for a term of 15 years. Mr. Lindbergh's resolution will provide

BOAST OF YEARS CAST IN DISCARD BY ALLEN GANG

Hillsville, Va., March 23.—Sidna Edwards, a tall, rugged mountaineer of 22, sits calmly in the darkness of the little brick jail here, the first catch of the posses who have been scouring the mountains for those of the Allen gang who got away after the courthouse assassination of March 14, when a judge, prosecutor, sheriff and two bystanders were killed and two others seriously wounded. Detective Le Grand Felts and W. W. Phaul, heading a posse, came upon Edwards asleep in an empty hut a mile from his home. He was unarmed, and when he awoke the detectives were at his side. He made no resistance and went to a farmer's house near Lanesburg, Va., and started for Hillsville with his captors. He protests his innocence of participation in the crime.

It is reported that the Allens have offered to surrender if they are guaranteed trial in some other county and are permitted to plead guilty to second degree murder.

SLEUTHBURNS ADDS GINGER TO THE TRIAL

Noted Sleuth Gives Opinion of Private Detectives.

CALLS THEM BLACKMAILERS

William J. Burns, Called as Character Witness For His Operative, Admits Remarks Made During Lorimer Investigation at Washington—Includes Some Lawyers in Same Class—Accused Lawmaker Denies Bribery Charge in Toto.

Columbus, O., March 23.—Detective William J. Burns, on the witness stand in the Hoffman trial, gave the first real taste of ginger to the case which has been dragging along all week, when he admitted that during the Senator Lorimer investigation at Washington he had testified that "private detectives are nothing but a bunch of blackmailing thieves and that he considered some lawyers in the same class."

The defense practically had finished its evidence toward the building up of an alibi for the accused senator, when the state placed Mr. Burns on the stand to re-open testimony assailing the character and reputation of Detective Frank Harrison Smiley, Burns operative, who worked up bribery cases against accused senators.

Mr. Burns said Mr. Smiley had been in his employ since 1909 and that he never had had occasion to question his veracity or character. He said he had investigated thoroughly the charges against Smiley as to his alleged connection with the Deffenbaugh and Chicago Forge and Bolt Works cases in Chicago before employing him and had found these to be without foundation.

The defense was lying in wait for the detective chief and was fortified with a transcript of his testimony before the Lorimer investigating committee. The first question asked by Attorney Belcher was whether Detective Smiley had not been a private detective before entering his service. Mr. Burns answered that he had been.

Then came the question which brought forth the statement about private detectives. Mr. Belcher was visibly agitated. Rising to his feet, he put the question, almost in a yell.

"Did you not, in the Lorimer investigation, state that private detectives are nothing more than a bunch of half-baked, blackmailing swindlers?"

Admitted Making Statement.

"Yes, sir, I said it then and I say it now. I also put some attorneys in the same class."

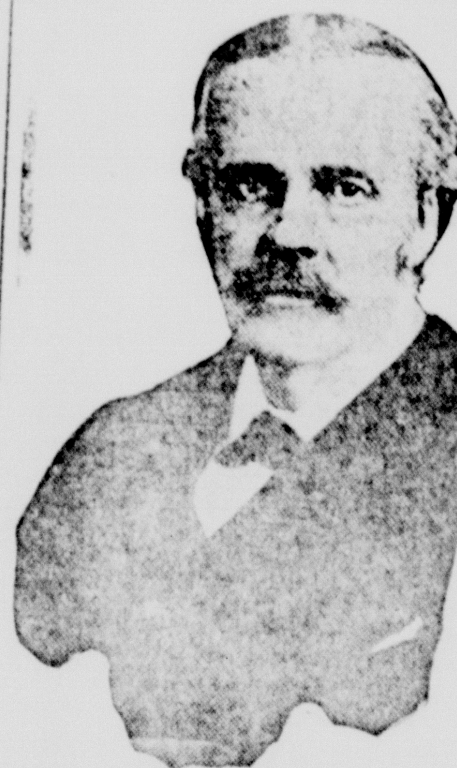

Next came a definition by Mr. Burns of the half-baked class. He defined them as private detectives who do not know how to go about an investigation, yet do know a lot about raking in money from persons employing them. He then took the transcript and read a number of pages of the testimony in the Lorimer investigation.

To Senator S. B. McGuire of Canal Dover must go the credit for "spilling the beans" of the defense's alibi. He appeared as a witness for the defense. He told how he had gone to the senate smoking room on the afternoon of April 27 to see Senator Cretone about a committee meeting.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE A POLITICAL HARVEST

Many Delegates to Republican Convention to Be Selected.

Washington, March 23.—Next week will be a period of most important developments in the pre-convention presidential fight in the Republican party, for in six days there will be chosen 156 delegates to the Chicago gathering, which is nearly as many seats as the total number that has been filed to date.

So far 179 delegates have been chosen. Of this number 124 are for Taft, 12 for Roosevelt, 19 for La Follette, two for Cummins, two unattached and 29 contested between Roosevelt and Taft.

When next week has ended a total of 325 of the 1,576 required will have been selected, and the final outcome of the convention can be forecast with accuracy.

By far the most important event of the whole campaign so far will come Tuesday with the New York state primaries, which elect 50 delegates.

Fall River, Mass., March 23.—The Cotton Manufacturers' association averted a general strike by posting notices in mills employing 23,000 operatives, that an increase of 10 per cent would be given all who are back at work Monday. This is a victory for the operatives, who refused a 5 per cent increase.

posal to Empty Seats.

Columbus, O., March 23.—With more than half of the members of the convention out of the city, the constitutional convention resumed debate on the Crosser initiative and referendum proposal.

"We can, of course, refuse to re-elect our faithless legislators, but we can never recall their acts without the initiative and referendum," said Delegate Beyer of Hancock county, in discussing the proposal before the convention. "What good does it do to turn him down after he has sold us out? Give us the chance to veto his acts through the referendum. We want to have the right to make him consider laws the people want. He must hear the voice of the people in their demands for new laws. We will get that through the initiative."

Delegate Earnhart of Warren county also spoke in favor of the Crosser proposals.

CONFERENCE ADJOURNS

Soft Coal Miners Refuse to Continue Agreement.

Cleveland, O., March 23.—The deadlock between the bituminous coal miners and operators remains unbroken. The miners refused a compromise offer that they continue the present wage agreement, and in all probability they will quit work after March 31 unless their demands are granted by the operators.

The compromise proposed by the operators was involved in two offers. There were: That the present wage and working scale be continued for two years after its expiration on April 1; that there be no suspension of the mines on any account.

MAN IN FLAMES LEAPS FOR LIFE

Fall Is Broken by Frail and Delicate Woman.

GRASPS SITUATION AT GLANCE

Workman in Garage Caught in Gasoline Explosion Rushes to Window but Hesitates to Jump Until Reassured by News Agent, Who Catches Him in Her Arms and Rolls Him in Snow Until Fire Is Extinguished.

Chicago, March 23.—His clothing a mass of flames, a man crawled out on the narrow coping of a second-story window of a burning building in Grand boulevard and stood irresolute for a brief instant. Simultaneously with the appearance of the flame-enveloped man a slender woman dashed out of a nearby doorway and screamed shrilly, "Jump! Jump!" The human torch leaped. Below the little woman braced her feet for the impact while a dozen husky men gazed in awe. As the body struck her outstretched arms, she grasped him and fell back into a deep snowdrift.

The man had been saved from possible death in the fall by her catching him. But his clothing was still in flames. The little woman scrambled out of the snowdrift and rubbed the man in the snow, beat the flames with her hands and smothered them with a coat she borrowed from a bystander.

When it was all over it was discovered that the man, Abraham Meens, was uninjured. He then borrowed a pair of overalls and returned to his work in the Grand Boulevard Automobile company garage, while the firemen squelched a blaze the result of an explosion of gasoline, which partly wrecked the building.

The woman, Mrs. Mamie Lawrence, a widow who sells newspapers, went back to her newsstand next door, as unconcerned as though her heroic act were of daily occurrence.

EGG PRICES

Poor Handling Largely Blamed by Wooster Experts.

Wooster, O., March 23. A plea to egg producers to take better care of their eggs is made by the Ohio agricultural experiment station in a bulletin just issued.

After a careful investigation the station declares that the high cost of eggs is largely due to carelessness in handling them before they reach the storage houses of the consumers.

"During warm weather there are many bad eggs placed on the market," says the bulletin. "These bad eggs may be dirty, broken, incubated, shrunk or held, rotten or moldy and bad flavored. These bad eggs are largely the result of conditions that could be improved by proper management."

It quotes figures to show that an average of 17 cents is lost on every dollar's worth of eggs.

Fly Eggs Hatch In Eight Hours

Mr. James Hine, associate professor of zoology and entomology, is authority for the statement that a single female fly will lay about 120 eggs, as many as twelve or fourteen times in a season. In warm weather these eggs hatch in eight hours and the larvae grow to full size in five days. Five more days are required to go through the pupa stage so that in ten days the fly passes from the egg to the adult. House flies carry disease germs and breed in stable manure and filth.

Local Contractors Land $39,600 Contract

Parker & Wood Lowest Bidders on Chillicothe School Building
and Mr. Parker Will Move at Once to That City.

Parker & Wood of this city have been successful in landing the contract for the new St. Mary's school building in Chillicothe, the total bid being $39,600, which was from $2,000 to $7,000 less than the other five bids.

Bidders from Cincinnati, Dayton, Chillicothe and other places tried to land the big contract but the local firm was too much for them and carried off the plum.

The new structure will face on 4th street, and will be fireproof, or as near so as it is possible to make it, and the contract calls for completion by December 1st, 1912.

Chas. Parker, head of the firm, immediately let the contract for the excavating, and work will commence next Monday and will be carried forward without delay.

Mr. Parker will move his family to Chillicothe and take active charge of the work, remaining there for some eight months, or until the entire building is completed late in the fall or early winter, when he will return to this city. He will leave this city in two weeks.

The other bidders were somewhat surprised when the local firm underbid them and secured the contract. The contract at $39,600 does not include installation of the heating system.

Giant Buried 22 Years Body Turns to Stone

A freak much out of the ordinary is reported from Clarksburg, a few miles south of New Holland, where the body of a man buried 22 years ago has been exhumed and found to be petrified and in a perfect state of preservation.

The body was that of Abraham Ater, and the discovery was made by his children who wished to remove the body from the Bennett private burying ground to Brown's Chapel, near Clarksburg.

On opening the grave the startling condition of the corpse was discovered, the body having undergone some mysterious transformation wherein it had been turned to solid stone.

Abraham Ater was the largest man Clarksburg ever possessed. He was six feet and four inches in height and weighed 380 pounds. He died suddenly of heart trouble 22 years ago. He was known all over this part of the state as the "big man." He was a soldier in the Civil War and the whole army knew him by his enormous size. After serving three years in the war he returned home, married, and at his death left six children.

The giant possessed enormous strength, but a mild and kindly disposition which won him many friends.

The petrified body is said to be of great weight, and every feature in perfect condition. The deceased has many descendants in and near New Holland, and will be remembered by many of the older inhabitants of this county.

Japs Can't Use Magdalena Bay

When Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, says that even from the military point of view Magdalena bay is not particularly desirable, he means that it would be of little value to Japan as a naval base, and he is right. Magdalena bay is from 5,500 to 6,000 miles from Yokohama. One thousand miles north of Magdalena bay is the naval station at San Francisco, and 800 miles further north is the Puget sound base at Bremerton. Two-fifths of the way across the Pacific on the route to Yokohama is the great naval base and rendezvous of Pearl harbor in the Hawaiian islands, which the United States engineers are making impregnable. Magdalena bay in the possession of Japan would be at the mercy of the naval power operating from Pearl harbor, San Francisco and Seattle, even if the finest coal mines in the world were situated on the shores of the bay, fresh water could be had in abundance, and the back country were peerlessly fertile. As a matter of fact the country for miles around it is arid and desolate—the land of thirst it is called—and every ton of coal for the use of a fleet must be brought to Magdalena bay. Nature never intended it for a naval base. At great expense it could be converted into one, but in the hands of Japan so converted it would have little strategical value, not so much as one of the most Western Aleutian islands.

CRAIG BROTHERS

Railways Big Business Increase

The enormous expansion of American industry, as well as the development of the railways, in order to equip them to handle the country's commerce, are comprehensively set forth in a recent compilation of figures showing the revenue of the roads under the various headings of railway earnings during the last 20 years. The figures combine the earnings of all railway lines, as reported officially to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the year 1893 the total earnings from freight transportation on the American railways, as reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission, amounted to $829,953,861, while for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1910, the revenue from this class service had increased to $1,925,553,036 or 132.26 per cent in 17 years.

The earnings from passenger travel in 1893 on all American railways, totaled $301,491,816, and at the close of the fiscal year 1910, the passenger revenue was $629,452,643, an increase of 108.78 per cent during the same period of years.

The amount paid to railways of the country for the transportation of mail matter was $28,445,953 in 1893, and at the close of the fiscal year 1910, the government disbursed $48,946,052 to the railways for hauling postal matter. This increase during the period in which the comparisons are made was 72.07 per cent.

Census figures of the growth of population from 1893 to 1910, the periods of comparison in railway revenue, show that in the former year there were 66,543,695 inhabitants in the United States, and at the close of the year 1910 the population of the country was 91,972,266. This was an increase of 38.25 per cent.

Reduced to a unit of population, or per capita, the average freight revenue of the railways increased 68.96 per cent. from 1893 to 1910; passenger revenue increased 51.59 per cent. during like period.

Urges Study Habit for A

"Get the study habit," says W. Park, vice president and general manager of the Illinois Central railroad, in a bulletin to the employees of the road. This is good advice, not only for railroad men, but for every worker. The man who studies constantly the principles that apply to his work will produce better results than the man who goes along doing things as he has been taught to do them, and he will also progress mentally. Further, he studies how other workers in his line do things, he will become an expert.

There is a belief among the uneducated that education is a magic acquisition, obtained for a lifetime by a college or technical school course. But the habit of study throughout life marks the progressive worker, whatever the educational start.—Chicago Record Herald.

Power and Privileges Of the Humane Society

Information Regarding the Fayette County Humane Society
Everyone Should Know—Enthusiastic Meeting Held.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Fayette County Humane society was held at the Probate Judge's office Friday night and plans toward completing the county organization and securing a representative in each community, were completed, and within a short time the society expects to have a membership of 50 or 100 persons in the city and county.

A committee was also appointed to secure a man to act as agent or humane officer his appointment to be announced at the next meeting. All members are well pleased with the progress made, and within a short time the influence of the society will be felt throughout the county, as it includes the entire county as well as the city of Washington and all other towns.

Men and women throughout the county are eligible to membership under the rules of the society. Cruelty to animals or children at any point in the county will receive attention if reported to the society, and this may be done either by calling or addressing the Fayette County Humane Society, or Secretary Ray F. Zaner, or any member of the society. Names of informants will be withheld whenever a conviction can be made without it.

The humane officer will have full power to act, and may make an arrest without a warrant. The law further provides that any member of the society may, without filing an affidavit, require the sheriff, any constable, marshal or policeman to arrest any person found violating the laws in relation to cruelty to persons or animals, and take possession of any animal cruelly treated.

Any person may protect animals from neglect and secure payment from the owner, even if it is necessary to have the animal sold to pay the expense. An officer or agent of the society, when he or she deems it to the best interests of a child, may remove the child from possession of its parents.

Penalties under the humane laws are heavy, and for torturing, neglecting, abandoning a child under sixteen, or fails to furnish a child with necessary and proper food, clothing, shelter, or cruelly punishes it, shall be fined, under the statute, not more than $200 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both.

Overworking, overdriving, overloading, torturing, depriving of necessary sustenance, unmercifully or cruelly beats, needlessly mutilates or kills, or imprisons or confines an animal.

Debater Arrested

John Phillips, Jr., a Chillicothe High school student who was on the debating team which met the Washington High school team in Chillicothe Friday night, was arrested Friday afternoon in Chillicothe, the charge being disorderly conduct, due principally to "sassing" the chief of police. Friends soon secured his release.

Fly Eggs Hatch In Eight Hours

Mr. James Hine, associate professor of zoology and entomology, is authority for the statement that a single female fly will lay about 120 eggs, as many as twelve or fourteen times in a season. In warm weather these eggs hatch in eight hours and the larvae grow to full size in five days. Five more days are required to go through the pupa stage so that, in ten days the fly passes from the egg to the adult. House flies carry disease germs and breed in stable manure and filth.

Local Contractors Land $39,600 Contract

Parker & Wood Lowest Bidders on Chillicothe School Building
and Mr. Parker Will Move at Once to That City.

Parker & Wood of this city have been successful in landing the contract for the new St. Mary's school building in Chillicothe, the total bid being $39,600, which was from $2,000 to $7,000 less than the other five bids.

Bidders from Cincinnati, Dayton, Chillicothe and other places tried to land the big contract but the local firm was too much for them and carried off the plum.

The new structure will face on 4th street, and will be fireproof, or as near so as it is possible to make it, and the contract calls for completion by December 1st, 1912.

Chas. Parker, head of the firm, immediately let the contract for the excavating, and work will commence next Monday and will be carried forward without delay.

Mr. Parker will move his family to Chillicothe and take active charge of the work, remaining there for some eight months, or until the entire building is completed late in the fall or early winter, when he will return to this city. He will leave this city in two weeks.

The other bidders were somewhat surprised when the local firm underbid them and secured the contract. The contract at $39,600 does not include installation of the heating system.

Giant Buried 22 Years Body Turns to Stone

A freak much out of the ordinary is reported from Clarksburg, a few miles south of New Holland, where the body of a man buried 22 years ago has been exhumed and found to be petrified and in a perfect state of preservation.

The body was that of Abraham Ater, and the discovery was made by his children who wished to remove the body from the Bennett private burying ground to Brown's Chapel, near Clarksburg.

On opening the grave the startling condition of the corpse was discovered, the body having undergone some mysterious transformation wherein it had been turned to solid stone.

Abraham Ater was the largest man Clarksburg ever possessed. He was six feet and four inches in height and weighed 380 pounds. He died suddenly of heart trouble 22 years ago. He was known all over this part of the state as the "big man." He was a soldier in the Civil War and the whole army knew him by his enormous size. After serving three years in the war he returned home, married, and at his death left six children.

The giant possessed enormous strength, but a mild and kindly disposition which won him many friends.

The petrified body is said to be of great weight, and every feature in perfect condition. The deceased has many descendants in and near New Holland, and will be remembered by many of the older inhabitants of this county.

Japs Can't Use Magdalena Bay

When Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, says that even from the military point of view Magdalena bay is not particularly desirable, he means that it would be of little value to Japan as a naval base, and he is right. Magdalena bay is from 5,500 to 6,000 miles from Yokohama. One thousand miles north of Magdalena bay is the naval station at San Francisco, and 800 miles further north is the Puget sound base at Bremerton. Two-fifths of the way across the Pacific on the route to Yokohama is the great naval base and rendezvous of Pearl harbor in the Hawaiian islands, which the United States engineers are making impregnable. Magdalena bay in the possession of Japan would be at the mercy of the naval power operating from Pearl harbor, San Francisco and Seattle, even if the finest coal mines in the world were situated on the shores of the bay, fresh water could be had in abundance, and the back country were peerlessly fertile. As a matter of fact the country for miles around it is arid and desolate—the land of thirst it is called—and every ton of coal for the use of a fleet must be brought to Magdalena bay. Nature never intended it for a naval base. At great expense it could be converted into one, but in the hands of Japan so converted it would have little strategical value, not so much as one of the most Western Aleutian islands.

Railways Big Business Increase

The enormous expansion of American industry, as well as the development of the railways, in order to equip them to handle the country's commerce, are comprehensively set forth in a recent compilation of figures showing the revenue of the roads under the various headings of railway earnings during the last 20 years. The figures combine the earnings of all railway lines, as reported officially to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the year 1893 the total earnings from freight transportation on the American railways, as reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission, amounted to $829,953,861, while for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1910, the revenue from this class service had increased to $1,925,553,936 or 132.26 per cent in 17 years.

The earnings from passenger travel in 1893 on all American railways, totaled $301,491,816, and at the close of the fiscal year 1910, the passenger revenue was $629,452,643, an increase of 108.78 per cent during the same period of years.

The amount paid to railways of the country for the transportation of mail matter was $28,445,953 in 1893, and at the close of the fiscal year 1910, the government disbursed $48,946,952 to the railways for hauling postal matter. This increase during the period in which the comparisons are made was 72.07 per cent.

Census figures of the growth of population from 1893 to 1910, the periods of comparison in railway revenue, show that in the former year there were 66,543,695 inhabitants in the United States, and at the close of the year 1910 the population of the country was 91,972,266. This was an increase of 38.25 per cent.

Reduced to a unit of population, or per capita, the average freight revenue of the railways increased 68.96 per cent, from 1893 to 1910; passenger revenue increased 51.59 per cent, during like period.

LOCAL DEBATERS WIN

Able Discussion at Home, But Lose in Chillicothe Battle to Team From Ancient Metropolis.

CHILICOTHE WINS BOTH CONTESTS

Circleville Teams Lose at Home and Abroad in Close Contests. Best of Feeling Prevails in Three Cities.

The Washington C. H. High school debating team entered the field of the triangular debate Friday night at Memorial Hall and wrested victory from worthy opponents representing the Circleville High school.

It was the first of a series of annual triangular debates and Washington's initial appearance, while Chillicothe and Circleville, contributing the other two teams, have been in a debating league for some time. The success of the local team is doubly gratifying giving prestige to W. C. H. High school and stirring to active interest the spirit of debate and literary effort.

The audience, while not indulging in the "rip rah" variety of enthusiasm, nevertheless expressed its delight in strenuous applause.

President Brown, of Wilmington college, the presiding officer of the evening, commended the spirit of the audience in its fairness and friendliness to both sides.

After the invocation by Rev. W. I. Campbell, of the Presbyterian church, Principal D. A. Ferree, of the High school, introduced President Brown, who presented the question, Resolved, That the Commission Form Would be Preferable to the Present Form of City Government in Ohio.

Washington C. H. argued the affirmative and Circleville the negative. Maynard Craig opened the debate. His manly address and direct introduction of his subject enabled him to hold his audience from the first, always a difficult matter for the first speaker. He was very strong in argument throughout.

Miss Nellie Miller, the only girl on either team, was second on the affirmative, and splendidly upheld the ability of her sex to cope with the sternest in both mental grasp and self-possession. Graceful and easy in manner, she made telling points for the affirmative side.

The negative side was presented by Frank Davin, Clarence Reid and Leon Freitman, composing the Circleville team. Their subject matter was excellent and showed good work, but their delivery was not considered on a par with the composition work.

Davis Edwards closed the affirmative with a masterly argument that went far towards convincing the judges and his polished, dignified presentation made it doubly effective. Mr. Edwards was particularly strong on rebuttal, his quick mind taking advantage of every weakness in the opponents' argument and fortifying his own argument.

The one judge who voted for the negative said that while he gave his verdict for the negative, Mr. Edwards was unquestionably the best debator on the platform. The judges were Prof. D. R. Major, of Ohio State university; Supt. W. McK. Vance, of Delaware; Mr. W. E. Kershner, Columbus. They decided two to one in favor of the affirmative.

The debate was won on argument and not on pyrotechnics. Each speaker was given ten minutes on original argument and four minutes in rebuttal. All three of the local team used less than their first ten minutes and had to be called in rebuttal. In the rebuttal each W. C. H. speaker was particularly effective. Circleville lacked in originality in rebuttal, and failed to answer many of their opponents' points. Their team was to be congratulated upon its good spirit towards the winning side. Quite a bunch of rooters came over in autos from Circleville to root for their side. The debates will be published in the Herald next week.

The local High school team was defeated at Chillicothe by the Chillicothe team, but went down with colors gayly flying.

Our boys went against the three Seniors and experienced debaters of Chillicothe splendidly and are to be congratulated upon their plucky defense.

Prof. Copeland, of Athens, one of the judges, said that he doubted if three adults could have come into a strange hall, with an audience whose sympathy was against them, and acquit themselves as well as these young fellows who have never been in debate.

W. C. H. put up forceful argument and tied at the close of the main argument, but was not as strong in rebuttal as their opponents.

The speakers on the affirmative side were John Phillips, Jr., Paul Emmel, Carlisle Hermann, Leah Black, alternate; on the negative side, Paul Zimmerman, Roy Thorp, James Ballard, Ned Erskine, alternate. The judges were Prof. Copeland, Ohio University, Athens; Supt. J. V. McMillan, Marietta, O.; Supt. B. O. Skinner, Athens, O.

Miss Herman was the best speaker of the evening, her rebuttal speech exceptionally fine.

Chillicothe treated the local team royally and cheered their efforts heartily.

Chillicothe is heart and soul in the spirit of the interscholastic debate. Everybody was interested and boosted.

It sent 140 rooters to Circleville with a brass band, and the students stayed up to meet the incoming night train bringing back their victorious team from Circleville. They marched down the streets, singing, "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" and kept up a regular college hurrah until morning.

Washington C. H. argued the affirmative and Chillicothe the negative. Maynard Craig opened the debate. His manly address and direct introduction of his subject enabled him to hold his audience from the first, always a difficult matter for the first speaker. He was very strong in argument throughout.

Miss Nellie Miller, the only girl on either team, was second on the affirmative and splendidly upheld the ability of her sex to cope with the sternness in both mental grasp and self-possession. Graceful and easy in manner, she made telling points for the affirmative side.

The negative side was presented by Frank Davis, Clarence Reid and Leon Freeman, composing the Circleville team. Their subject matter was excellent and showed good work, but their delivery was not considered on a par with the composition work.

Davis Edwards closed the affirmative with a masterly argument that went far towards convincing the judges and his polished, dignified presentation made it doubly effective. Mr. Edwards was particularly strong on rebuttal, his quick mind taking advantage of every weakness in the opponents' argument and fortifying his own argument.

The one judge who voted for the negative said that while he gave his verdict for the negative, Mr. Edwards was unquestionably the best debator on the platform. The judges were Prof. Dr. R. Major, of Ohio State university; Supt. W. McK. Vance, of Delaware; Mr. W. E. Kershner, Columbus. They decided two to one in favor of the affirmative.

The debate was won on argument and not on pyrotechnics.

Each speaker was given ten minutes on original argument and four minutes in rebuttal. All three of the local team used less than their first ten minutes and had to be called in rebuttal. In the rebuttal each W. C. H. speaker was particularly effective. Chillicothe lacked in originality in rebuttal, and failed to answer many of their opponents' points. Their team was to be congratulated upon its good spirit towards the winning side. Quite a bunch of rooters came over in autos from Circleville to root for their side.

The debates will be published in the Herald next week.

The local High school team was defeated at Chillicothe by the Chillicothe team, but went down with colors gayly flying.

Our boys went against the three Seniors and experienced debaters of Chillicothe splendidly and are to be congratulated upon their plucky defense.

Prof. Copeland, of Athens, one of the judges, said that he doubted if three adults could have come into a strange hall, with an audience whose sympathy was against them, and acquit themselves as well as these young fellows who have never been in debate.

W. C. H. put up forceful argument and tied at the close of the main argument, but was not as strong in rebuttal as their opponents.

The speakers on the affirmative side were John Phillips, Jr., Paul Emmel, Carlisle Hermann, Leah Black, alternate; on the negative side, Paul Zimmerman, Roy Thorp, James Ballard, Ned Erskine, alternate. The judges were Prof. Copeland, Ohio University, Athens; Supt. J. V. McMillan, Marietta, O.; Supt. B. O. Skinner, Athens, O.

Miss Herman was the best speaker of the evening, her rebuttal speech exceptionally fine.

Chillicothe treated the local team royally and cheered their efforts heartily.

Chillicothe is heart and soul in the spirit of the interscholastic debate. Everybody was interested and boosted.

It sent 140 rooters to Circleville with a brass band, and the students stayed up to meet the incoming night train bringing back their victorious team from Chillicothe. They marched down the streets, singing, "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" and kept up a regular college hurrah until morning.

CHIEF JACKSON'S SUSPENSION.

Without any regard to the merits of the contentions urged by the combatants in that particular case the prompt and decisive action of Mayor Henry T. Hunt, of Cincinnati, in suspending William H. Jackson from his office as chief of police of the Queen city, is important as showing the change in the attitude of public officials in these times. It is important in contrasting the present attitude of some officials with that which, until only a short time ago was the recognized attitude of officials in like cases.

Chief Jackson was called as a witness and asked if he knew whether or not a certain resident of Cincinnati was a gambler. The chief testified that he did not know.

Mayor Hunt, immediately he heard the police chief's testimony, called him "on the carpet" and asked him if that report of his testimony was correct, and being informed that it was Jackson was promptly suspended.

Mayor Hunt told the chief that if he had served over twenty years on the police force and didn't know whether or not that man was a gambler he was unfit to be chief.

Not a grave offense it may be argued by some—not grave enough to warrant the drastic action of the mayor.

When analyzed more closely it indicates that Jackson was following the old "shut the other eye" rule and not being any too busy to inform himself about infractions of the law in certain quarters, and if such was the case in the particular incident it indicated a characteristic which disqualified him for chief of police.

The old-time method of not seeing and not knowing things that go on about them has gone by forever for public officials.

Police can no longer be witnesses for the defense by not knowing and not seeing things that it is their business to know and to see.

It is their business to be alert and watchful and they should know that a man is or is not a violator of the law, and officers who do not know are unfit for the position.

Mayor Hunt took a radical course when many may consider, at first, that slight reason existed therefor, but the circumstance, slight in itself perhaps, indicated clearly, at least to the mayor that Jackson was not the type of man for chief, and it was for the lack of qualification for his position which the incident disclosed, rather than the magnitude of the incident itself which determined the mayor to act.

Poetry—Today

THE SHORTENED WAY.

It will not seem as far to you
If in your heart the skies are blue,
And birds are singing there, and trees
Are whispering their melodies
Of happiness and sweet content
Beneath the azure firmament.

It will not seem so hard and rough
If you believe it sweet enough,
If you look up through all your care
In gratitude of whispered prayer
To tell your happiness to God
For every blossom where you plod.

It will not be so tiresome quite
When you have reached the gates of night,
It through the tolling of the day
You have heeded along the way
The meaning of each holy trial
That happens on each measured mile.

It will not seem so long and far
If you remember that the star
Of love and faith above your head
Accompanies you wherever you tread,
And if, in grace of simple things,
There's something in your heart that sings.

On March 23rd, 1862—fifty years ago this day—Companies A and C of the First Ohio Cavalry participated in the famous charge of the rebel lines at Winchester, Va. The battle of Winchester was the beginning of a campaign in the Shenandoah valley by General Shields to whose division the First Ohio Cavalry had but shortly before the charge, been transferred.

There are but three men now living in Fayette county, Henry S. Limes, H. C. Denious and T. F. Gardner, who participated in that charge.

Chug-chug Cars Getting in Bad

The far reaching effect of the campaign against the use of the muffler cut-out on motor cars is evidenced in an order recently issued by the local government board of London, which will end the cut-out nuisance in that city on March 31. The local campaign against the cut-out was begun 18 months ago by the Touring Club of America.

With the action of the London authorities comes the introduction of an ordinance by John H. Boschen a member of the board of alderman of New York City, which, if adopted will make it illegal to operate an automobile in the city streets with the muffler cut-out. New York and London have only lately taken steps against the indiscriminate use of the cut-out, although scores of cities and villages throughout the United States have heretofore taken such action.

In London they refer to the muffler as a silencer. The new order is as follows:

"He shall not use any cut-out, fitting or other apparatus or device which will allow the exhaust gases from the engine of the motor car to escape into the atmosphere without first passing through the silencer, expansion chamber or other contrivance, suitable for reducing as far as may reasonably be practicable, the noise which would otherwise be caused by the escape of the said gases."

"Provided that this resolution shall apply only to a motor car propelled by an internal combustion engine and shall not extend to a motorcycle."

As this resolution does not extend motorcycles the local government board is considering the practicability of requiring motorcycles when used on the public highways to be provided with a suitable silencer for reducing the noise commonly caused by such vehicles.

The Car, the English motoring journal, contains the following comment upon the new regulation: "No properly constructed touring car needs a cut-out nowadays when the construction of most silencers and exhaust boxes is so scientific and when less than 2 per cent of the power developed by the engine is absorbed by making the exhaust silent."

"The order will be received with approval by the vast majority of the automobile community, but it may be asked why does not the order go further and should it not eventually be extended to motorcycles, many of which emit reports like Maxim guns as they go through the streets? There is no more difficulty in having a silent motor car and perfectly efficient silencers are now fitted to the best makes, thus demonstrating that it would be no great hardship to fix a date after which open exhausts on motorcycles should be prohibited."

The ordinance before the board of aldermen in New York has been referred to the committee on laws and legislation, of which Alderman Courtland Nicoll is chairman, and a public hearing will be held soon. Frederick H. Elliott, secretary of the Touring Club of America, announces that the club will be represented at the hearing to be given on the proposed ordinance in support of the speedy adoption.

Man of Visions Lands in Jail

Noah Anderson, the man living near Mt. Sterling, who recently claimed that he had a vision in which he saw in Darby creek the body of Frank Coltz, the missing farm hand who is believed to have been murdered at the time Fannie Hageganz met her death at Orient, is in the Pickaway county jail.

Anderson had another "vision." He saw money in the bank and issued a $10 check, but the money proved visionary and he was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Anderson claimed he had seen the body of Coltz in Darby creek, and could locate it, but he failed to do so.

Mt. Sterling Curfew

Mayor L. E. Kober, of Mt. Sterling, has established a curfew in that town and has issued the following notice to the citizens:

"In order to better the moral conditions of the children of our town, it becomes necessary to establish a curfew. Commencing April 1st, the bell in tower of town hall rings at 8 o'clock every night thereafter, except during the months of June, July and August, when the bell will ring at 9 o'clock, p. m., when all children under the age of 17 years are expected to be off the streets, unless accompanied by parent or guardian. This is a state law and will be enforced."

Sane Fourth No Fireworks

Columbus will enjoy another "safe and sane" Fourth of July this year. This was decided upon at a conference between Mayor Karb and Safety Director Barger, and the police department will be notified that the regulations in effect last year will again be enforced this year. The regulations prohibit the exploding of firearms, firecrackers or torpedoes. They also prohibit the exhibition of fireworks in the evening except under certain conditions that assure safety from fire and injury.

Director Barger said the decision is made this early, in order that the dealers will have plenty of warning not to put in stocks of firecrackers and explosives, for sale on the Fourth. It will also enable patriotic organizations to arrange for patriotic exercises in keeping with the new order of things.

It is expected that the Grand Army and Spanish war veterans will arrange appropriate exercises and there will possibly be a military parade. Columbus was converted to the "Safe and sane" Fourth of July when it passed thru the day last year without the report of an accident attributable to the celebration of the day.

Our Wild Desire to Pile Up Gold Imperils Nation

By JACOB RIIS

Dangers Are Not From Without, but With Our Own People

Author and Sociologist

GREED of Americans in their WILD DESIRE TO PILE UP GOLD is a present day parallel of the dragon of disloyalty and jealousy that refused supplies to the army of George Washington at Valley Forge, the same that called Lincoln a clown and a canker and Grover Cleveland a wife beater.

THE UNION STANDS STRONG AGAINST OUTSIDE ASSAULT SINCE IT RECEIVED ITS BAPTISM OF BLOOD UNDER LINCOLN. UNLESS WE OURSELVES SURRENDER OUR RIGHT TO BE THE ONLY ARBITERS OF ITS FORTUNES IT IS SAFE AGAINST FOREIGN FOES. NO ONE WILL ATTACK US. BUT FROM WITHIN THERE HAS COME A FERIL AGAINST WHICH IT BEHOVES US TO MAKE A SOLID AND UNITED FRONT.

Democracy is a process of education that is never finished. The fathers of the republic laid down the lines.

Wealth has piled up. Poverty, in our cities especially, seems MORE GRIEVOUS BY THE CONTRAST. This is a real peril, for the VERY SOUL OF A DEMOCRACY is this—a fair opportunity for every one.

But with the piling up of great fortunes the human greed and selfishness which no political system can ever cure as long as men are what they are, but which for its very life a democracy must fight, because its mission is to make men BETTER—better men, better citizens, NOT MERELY MORE COMFORTABLE—with the piling up, I say, of great wealth, this GREED, this SELFISHNESS, has grown like a deadly upas tree, and there has come a gap in our ranks in which we hear the old dragon of DISLOYALTY hiss.

CHIEF JACKSON'S SUSPENSION.

Without any regard to the merits of the contentions urged by the combatants in that particular case the prompt and decisive action of Mayor Henry T. Hunt, of Cincinnati, in suspending William H. Jackson from his office as chief of police of the Queen city, is important as showing the change in the attitude of public officials in these times. It is important in contrasting the present attitude of some officials with that which, until only a short time ago was the recognized attitude of officials in like cases.

Chief Jackson was called as a witness and asked if he knew whether or not a certain resident of Cincinnati was a gambler. The chief testified that he did not know.

Mayor Hunt, immediately he heard the police chief's testimony, called him "on the carpet" and asked him if that report of his testimony was correct, and being informed that it was Jackson was promptly suspended.

Mayor Hunt told the chief that if he had served over twenty years on the police force and didn't know whether or not that man was a gambler he was unfit to be chief.

Not a grave offense it may be argued by some—not grave enough to warrant the drastic action of the mayor.

When analyzed more closely it indicates that Jackson was following the old "shut the other eye" rule and not being any too busy to inform himself about infractions of the law in certain quarters, and if such was the case in the particular incident it indicated a characteristic which disqualified him for chief of police.

The old-time method of not seeing and not knowing things that go on about them has gone by forever for public officials.

Police can no longer be witnesses for the defense by not knowing and not seeing things that it is their business to know and to see.

It is their business to be alert and watchful and they should know that a man is or is not a violator of the law, and officers who do not know are unfit for the position.

Mayor Hunt took a radical course when many may consider, at first, that slight reason existed therefor, but the circumstance, slight in itself perhaps, indicated clearly, at least to the mayor that Jackson was not the type of man for chief, and it was for the lack of qualification for his position which the incident disclosed, rather than the magnitude of the incident itself which determined the mayor to act.

Poetry—Today

THE SOUTHERN WAY.

It will not seem so far to you
If in your heart the skies are blue,
And birds are singing there, and trees
Are whispering their melodies
Of happiness and sweet content
Beneath the azure firmament.

It will not seem so hard and rough
If you believe it sweet enough,
If you look up through all your care
In gratitude of whispered prayer
To tell your happiness to God
For every blossom where you plod.

It will not be so tiresome quite
When you have reached the gates of night,
If through the tolling of the day
You have beheld along the way
The meaning of each holy trial
That happens on each measured mile.

It will not seem so long and far
If you remember that the star
Of love and faith above your head
Accompanies you where'er you tread,
And if, in grace of simple things,
There's something in your heart that sings.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

On March 23rd, 1862—fifty years ago this day—Companies A and C of the First Ohio Cavalry participated in the famous charge of the rebel lines at Winchester, Va. The battle of Winchester was the beginning of a campaign in the Shenandoah valley by General Shields to whose division the First Ohio Cavalry had but shortly before the charge, been transferred. There are but three men now living in Fayette county, Henry S. Limes, H. C. Denious and T. F. Gardner, who participated in that charge.

Chug Chug Cars Getting in Bad

The far reaching effect of the campaign against the use of the muffler cut-out on motor cars is evidenced in an order recently issued by the local government board of London, which will end the cut-out nuisance in that city on March 31. The local campaign against the cut-out was begun 18 months ago by the Touring Club of America.

With the action of the London authorities comes the introduction of an ordinance by John H. Boechen a member of the board of alderman of New York City, which, if adopted will make it illegal to operate an automobile in the city streets with the muffler cut-out. New York and London have only lately taken steps against the indiscriminate use of the cut-out, although scores of cities and villages throughout the United States have heretofore taken such action.

In London they refer to the muffler as a silencer. The new order is as follows:

"He shall not use any cut-out, fitting or other apparatus or device which will allow the exhaust gases from the engine of the motor car to escape into the atmosphere without first passing through the silencer, expansion chamber or other contrivance, suitable for reducing as far as may reasonably be practicable, the noise which would otherwise be caused by the escape of the said gases."

"Provided that this resolution shall apply only to a motor car propelled by an internal combustion engine and shall not extend to a motorcycle."

As this resolution does not extend to motorcycles the local government board is considering the practicability of requiring motorcycles when used on the public highways to be provided with a suitable silencer for reducing the noise commonly caused by such vehicles.

The Car, the English motoring journal, contains the following comment upon the new regulation: "No properly constructed touring car needs a cut-out nowadays when the construction of most silencers and exhaust boxes is so scientific and when less than 2 per cent of the power developed by the engine is absorbed by making the exhaust silent."

"The order will be received with approval by the vast majority of the automobile community, but it may be asked why does not the order go further and should it not eventually be extended to motorcycles, many of which emit reports like Maxim guns as they go through the streets? There is no more difficulty in having a silent motor car and perfectly efficient silencers are now fitted to the best makes, thus demonstrating that it would be no great hardship to fix a date after which open exhausts on motorcycles should be prohibited."

The ordinance before the board of aldermen in New York has been referred to the committee on laws and legislation, of which Alderman Courtlandt Nicoll is chairman, and a public hearing will be held soon. Frederick H. Elliott, secretary of the Touring Club of America, announces that the club will be represented at the hearing to be given on the proposed ordinance in support of the speedy adoption.

Man of Visions Lands in Jail

Noah Anderson, the man living near Mt. Sterling, who recently claimed that he had a vision in which he saw in Darby creek the body of Frank Colitz, the missing farm hand who is believed to have been murdered at the time Fannie Hagelanz met her death at Orient, is in the Pickaway county jail.

Anderson had another "vision." He saw money in the bank and issued a $10 check, but the money proved visionary and he was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses.

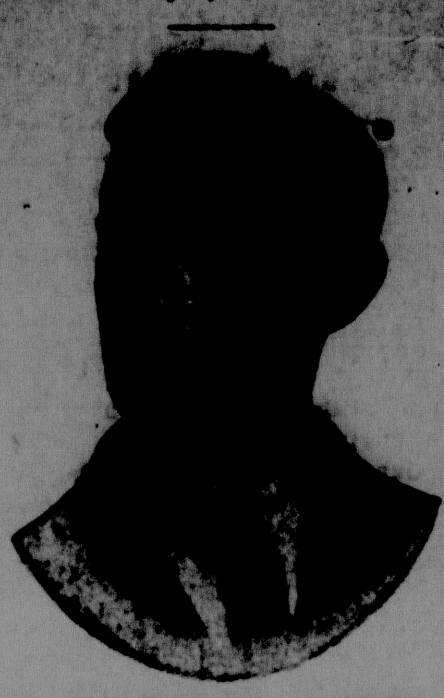

Anderson claimed he had seen the body of Colitz in Darby creek, and could locate it, but he failed to do so.

Mt. Sterling Curfew

Mayor L. E. Kober, of Mt. Sterling, has established a curfew in that town and has issued the following notice to the citizens:

"In order to better the moral conditions of the children of our town, it becomes necessary to establish a curfew. Commencing April 1st, the bell in tower of town hall rings at 8 o'clock every night thereafter, except during the months of June, July and August, when the bell will ring at 9 o'clock, p. m., when all children under the age of 17 years are expected to be off the streets, unless accompanied by parent or guardian. This is a state law and will be enforced."

Sane Fourth No Fireworks

Columbus will enjoy another "safe and sane" Fourth of July this year. This was decided upon at a conference between Mayor Korb and Safety Director Barger, and the police department will be notified that the regulations in effect last year will again be enforced this year. The regulations prohibit the exploding of firearms, firecrackers or torpedoes. They also prohibit the exhibition of fireworks in the evening except under certain conditions that assure safety from fire and injury.

Director Barger said the decision is made this early, in order that the dealers will have plenty of warning not to put in stocks of firecrackers and explosives, for sale on the Fourth. It will also enable patriotic organizations to arrange for patriotic exercises in keeping with the new order of things.

It is expected that the Grand Army and Spanish war veterans will arrange appropriate exercises and there will possibly be a military parade.

Columbus was converted to the "Safe and sane" Fourth of July when it passed thru the day last year without the report of an accident attributable to the celebration of the day.

Our Wild Desire to Pile Up Gold Imperils Nation

Dangers Are Not From Without, but With Our Own People

By JACOB RIIS Author and Sociologist

GREED of Americans in their WILD DESIRE TO PILE UP GOLD is a present day parallel of the dragon of disloyalty and jealousy that refused supplies to the army of George Washington at Valley Forge, the same that called Lincoln a clown and a canker and Grover Cleveland a wife beater.

THE UNION STANDS STRONG AGAINST OUTSIDE ASSAULT SINCE IT RECEIVED ITS BAPTISM OF BLOOD UNDER LINCOLN. UNLESS WE OURSELVES SURRENDER OUR RIGHT TO BE THE ONLY ARBITERS OF ITS FORTUNES IT IS SAFE AGAINST FOREIGN FOES. NO ONE WILL ATTACK US, BUT FROM WITHIN THERE HAS COME A FERIL AGAINST WHICH IT BEHOOVES US TO MAKE A SOLID AND UNITED FRONT.

Democracy is a process of education that is never finished. The fathers of the republic laid down the lines.

Wealth has piled up. Poverty, in our cities especially, seems MORE GREWSOME BY THE CONTRAST. This is a real peril, for the VERY SOUL OF A DEMOCRACY is this—a fair opportunity for every one.

But with the piling up of great fortunes the human greed and selfishness which no political system can ever cure as long as men are what they are, but which for its very life a democracy must fight, because its mission is to make men BETTER—better men, better citizens, NOT MERELY MORE COMFORTABLE—with the piling up, I say, of great wealth, this GREED, this SELFISHNESS, has grown like a deadly upas tree, and there has come a gap in our ranks in which we hear the old dragon of DISLOYALTY hiss.

BASEBALL DOPE

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, March 22, 1912.

No team in either of the major baseball leagues will be watched as closely this season as the Cincinnati Reds. The reason for this is that the Cincinnati club has defied all precedent by engaging as manager a man who has not had the slightest experience in the matter of guiding a team, either minor or major league. However, it is generally conceded that, in engaging Henry—popularly known as "Hank"—O'Day to direct the Reds this year, the Cincinnati club has made an exceedingly wise move. For 15 years O'Day has been a keen observer of the inside workings of progressive baseball, first as a big league player, and later as an umpire. In the latter capacity he has had the opportunity of closely observing the methods of all the great managers and players developed in the last 20 years, his point of vantage as an umpire giving him an advantage that he could not possibly have enjoyed in any other way. Add to this knowledge his well known penchant for controlling men, and it will be seen that O'Day has all the equipment necessary to a successful manager. Of course, his engagement, as would be that of any other man, is somewhat in the nature of an experiment. But there is little doubt among those who have studied such matters, that it will prove successful.

While none of the old favorites will be missing from the line-up of the Reds next season, and there will be only a limited amount of new talent, it is generally conceded that under the O'Day method of conducting affairs, the team will boom up much stronger than it did in 1911. Absence of discipline was largely responsible for the Reds not making a better showing in the race last year. The material was there, but it was not properly utilized, with the result that an aggregation that should have finished among the first four, was far down in the race at the finish. This season promises to be much different. Several of the men who failed to deliver up to their capacity in 1911 are showing a class of form in spring practice that assures of much better service this year. These include Larry McLean, Arthur Fromme, Ed Grant and Dick Egan. The team will have the advantage of starting off with a larger number of pitchers in good condition than heretofore, and with all the utility positions well filled, so that with an even break in luck, the Reds should make a better start and keep up a much stronger pace than they did last year.

Local fans are looking forward to two extraordinary events in connection with the return of the Reds from the South. One is the performing of the new men, among whom infielders Phelan and McDonald, Outfielder Miller, Catcher Murphy, and Pitchers Prough, Horsey, Bagby, Williams, Hillebrand and Shinnery have been doing particularly well. Another feature is the informal dedication of the new grandstand, acknowledged to be the most complete, even though not the largest, baseball plant in the world. Not only will spectators be better accommodated than in the past, but the playing field will be larger, giving the athletes more room in which to pull off sensational performances, both in the fielding and hitting lines. Taken all in all, the outlook for the coming season is the brightest, and there is every reason to believe that expectations will be realized in every respect.

Lovers of the bluff-and-get-away game just seem compelled to have some one fighter upon whom to lavish their affections. In the days gone by John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey, Terry McGovern and Battling Nelson were some of the fighters who possessed all the affections of all the fight fans. Now a new idol has come forward in the person of Johnny Kilbane, the Cleveland feather, who recently wrested the world's title from Abe Attell. While Kilbane's victory was not as decisive as it might have been, it was sufficiently so as to leave no doubt as to his superiority over Attell, who at his best was not a particularly popular champion, despite the fact that he upheld the prestige of America in the ring for so many years. Attell's defeat caused only financial mourning, there being no sentiment in the regret over his defeat. Kilbane has already been offered $50,000 for his services for two years, and the prospects are that this amount will be increased. That shows how well the little fellow is held by fight promoters, and there is no doubt that he will make good this confidence in future bouts.

The prospects are that Maryland will be the racing state of America this year and hereafter. The Maryland Legislature now is considering a bill by which there will be ninety days of racing in the state during the summer, with either open betting or the pari-mutuals as the system for the investing of surplus coin. The two tracks already established in the state—Pimlico and Laurel—will have thirty days of racing each, divided up into two seasons of fifteen days each, the other thirty days being assigned to a new track to be constructed shortly. Should there be no racing in New York and the prospects are much against it—the Maryland turfmen will take the game into their own hands, instead of being dominated by the Jockey club.

In all portions of America amateur athletes are in training to enter the competitions for representation on the American team which will be entered in the world's champion Olympian games, which will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, the latter part of June and the first few days of July of the present year. Americans will be particularly conspicuous in the field events, which in the past have usually come to the United States. In previous world's contests the athletes from the United States carried off more honors than those of any other country, and it is expected that this year will see a repetition of the records made in previous years.

C. H. ZUBER.

GRANT IS GOOD.

Grant's play at third base is a eye-opener. Eddie is equally serene on ground balls of great force and on difficult bunts. He displays a game that will be hard to beat and he is hitting with regularity these days.

BALL AND BAT NOTES

Mansfield, Ohio, has traded First Baseman Frank Reynolds to Racine, Wis.

A. D. Dodson, Jr., is the new president of the reorganized Galveston club.

Frank Rock has been made secretary of the St. Joseph Western league club.

Managers McGraw and Bresnahan have five-year contracts with their clubs.

Spike Shannon, released by Kansas City, would like to land a job as an umpire.

All the recruits look good at present, but wait a month and many of them will vanish into the past.

John Dovey, formerly of the Boston National league club, will, according to report from Louisville, act as scout for Billy Grayson this season.

Buffalo will give Charles Pugh, a shortstop, another trial this year. He is a semi-pro who warmed the Bison bench for a while last summer.

Joe Cohn of the Spokane club wants the Northwestern league to take up the plan of numbering players recently adopted by the Pacific Coast league.

Hugh Duffy has signed a pitcher named Mathias Zieser. The former Sox leader is a diplomat and is making himself solid with all nationalities of people.

The Newark fans are all certain, and they are backed up by Joe McGinnity, that Bill Louden will be the find of the season. He is to be played at third by Hughie Jennings.

Johnny Evers, the brainy member of the Cubs, is angling for the purchase of the Albany (New York State league) club. Johnny is not figuring on quitting the big league, but he wants to be a magnate on the side.

Del Howard says that he has no plans for the summer, but if any club wants the services of a good slugger as well as a political speaker he says that he will consider the proposition.

The temperance clause that was inserted in the contracts of the Pirates last year was of great benefit to the team in the estimation of Barney Dreyfuss, and he has himself signed one of the pledges for the coming season.

Manager Fred Clarke has just closed a deal for a half interest in the J. P. Baden Mills at Winfield, Kan. The mills are among the largest in southern Kansas and are expected to add many thousands of dollars to Clarke's yearly income.

Joe Adams, the scout who discovered Otis Crandall, and Arthur Wilson of the Giants, is not connected with the national pastime in any form at present. Adams was manager of the Mattoon (Ill.) team at the time he found the Giants' stars.

Manager Jack Tighe of the Louisville Colonels is kidding himself that he will get Eddie Lennox back from the Cubs to play third for the Colonels the coming season. If half of the reports about the ability of Lennox are true, Tighe will have to keep on kidding himself.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS BATTLE TODAY

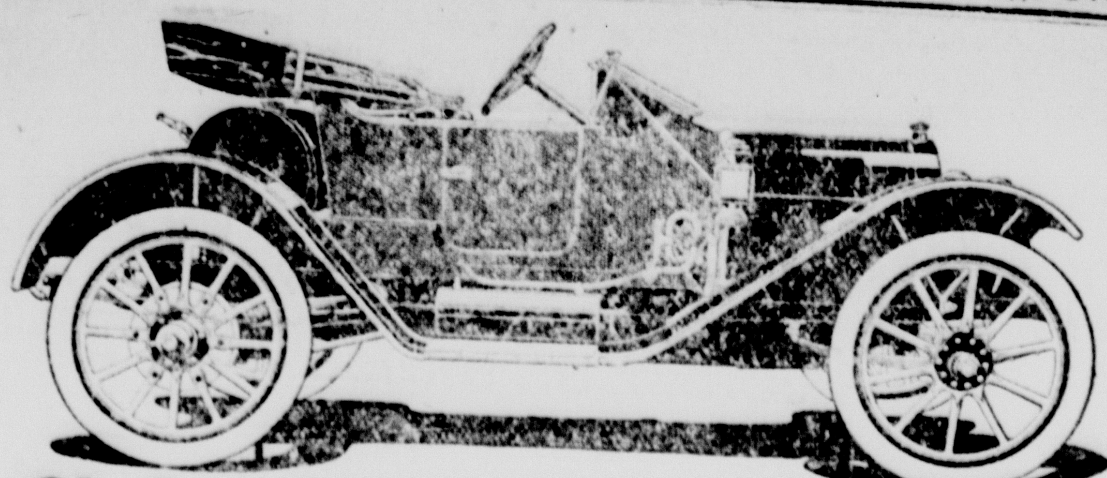

Middleweights Will Contest in Ring at San Francisco.

New York, March 23.—San Francisco will stage a glove fight of 20 rounds today that will have an indirect bearing on the middleweight championship of the world, a title that is claimed by a half dozen boxers. At James W. Colthro's club, Frank Kline of Pittsburgh and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis will put up maulers at 3 o'clock. They have agreed to make 158 pounds, the American middleweight limit, so that both will enter the ring with plenty of strength and endurance.

PITCHERS IN SHAPE.

Manager O'Day has had all the pitchers, except Gaspar and Fromme, work out with Clark and Severeid as catchers.

P. F. ORTMAN MOTOR CAR CO.
East Street, Washington C. H., Ohio.

HERE is a car, "built for you," that beats them all. It is fully equipped, including compressed air starter and tire inflator—something that should not be overlooked in buying a car. It means no more cranking or pumping tires. All danger is thereby removed. You can pay more for a car than the price of the Chalmers "30" Torpedo Roadster—$1400—but you cannot get greater value for your money; neither will you be able to secure more of the extreme pleasures of autoing with any other car at any price.

The specifications on this car tell the whole story. Nothing that adds to comfort, convenience or endurance has been omitted.

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, March 22, 1912.

No team in either of the major baseball leagues will be watched as closely this season as the Cincinnati Reds. The reason for this is that the Cincinnati club has defied all precedent by engaging as manager a man who has not had the slightest experience in the matter of guiding a team, either minor or major league. However, it is generally conceded that, in engaging Henry—popularly known as "Hank"—O'Day to direct the Reds this year, the Cincinnati club has made an exceedingly wise move. For 25 years O'Day has been a keen observer of the inside workings of progressive baseball, first as a big league player, and later as an umpire. In the latter capacity he has had the opportunity of closely observing the methods of all the great managers and players developed in the last 20 years, his point of vantage as an umpire giving him an advantage that he could not possibly have enjoyed in any other way. Add to this knowledge his well known penchant for controlling men, and it will be seen that O'Day has all the equipment necessary to a successful manager. Of course, his engagement, as would be that of any other man, is somewhat in the nature of an experiment. But there is little doubt among those who have studied such matters, that it will prove successful.

While none of the old favorites will be missing from the line-up of the Reds next season, and there will be only a limited amount of new talent, it is generally conceded that under the O'Day method of conducting affairs, the team will loom up much stronger than it did in 1911. Absence of discipline was largely responsible for the Reds not making a better showing in the race last year. The material was there, but it was not properly utilized, with the result that an aggregation that should have finished among the first four, was far down in the race at the finish. This season promises to be much different. Several of the men who failed to deliver up to their capacity in 1911 are showing a class of form in spring practice, that assures of much better service this year. These include Larry McLean, Arthur Fromme, Ed Grant and Dick Egan. The team will have the advantage of starting off with a larger number of pitchers in good condition than heretofore, and with all the utility positions well filled, so that with an even break in luck, the Reds should make a better start and keep up a much stronger pace than they did last year.

Local fans are looking forward to two extraordinary events in connection with the return of the Reds from the South. One is the performing of the new men, among whom infielders Phelan and McDonald, Outfielder Miller, Catcher Murphy, and Pitchers Prough, Horsey, Bagby, Williams, Hillebrand and Shinnery have been doing particularly well. Another feature is the informal dedication of the new grandstand, acknowledged to be the most complete, even though not the largest, baseball plant in the world. Not only will spectators be better accommodated than in the past, but the playing field will be larger, giving the athletes more room in which to pull off sensational performances, both in the fielding and hitting lines. Taken all in all, the outlook for the coming season is the brightest, and there is every reason to believe that expectations will be realized in every respect.

Lovers of the bluff-and-get-away game just seem compelled to have some one fighter upon whom to lavish their affections. In the days gone by John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey, Terry McGovern and Battling Nelson were some of the fighters who possessed all the affections of all the fight fans. Now a new idol has come forward in the person of Johnny Kilbane, the Cleveland feather, who recently wrested the world's title from Abe Attell. While Kilbane's victory was not as decisive as it might have been, it was sufficiently so as to leave no doubt as to his superiority over Attell, who at his best was not a particularly popular champion, despite the fact that he upheld the prestige of America in the ring for so many years. Attell's defeat caused only financial mourning, there being no sentiment in the regret over his defeat. Kilbane has already been offered $50,000 for his services for two years, and the prospects are that this amount will be increased. That shows how well the little fellow is held by fight promoters, and there is no doubt that he will make good this confidence in future bouts.

The prospects are that Maryland will be the racing state of America this year and hereafter. The Maryland Legislature now is considering a bill by which there will be ninety days of racing in the state during the summer, with either open betting or the pari-mutuals as the system for the investing of surplus coin. The two tracks already established in the state—Pimlico and Laurel—will have thirty days of racing each, divided up into two seasons of fifteen days each, the other thirty days being assigned to a new track to be constructed shortly. Should there be no racing in New York—and the prospects are much against it—the Maryland turfmen will take the game into their own hands, instead of being dominated by the Jockey club.

In all portions of America amateur athletes are in training to enter the competitions for representation on the American team which will be entered in the world's champion Olympic games, which will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, the latter part of June and the first few days of July of the present year. Americans will be particularly conspicuous in the field events, which in the past have usually come to the United States. In previous world's contests the athletes from the United States carried off more honors than those of any other country, and it is expected that this year will see a repetition of the records made in previous years.

GRANT IS GOOD.

Grant's play at third base is an eye opener. Eddie is equally serene on ground balls of great force and on difficult bunts. He displays a game that will be hard to beat and he is hitting with regularity these days.

BALL AND BAT NOTES

Mansfield, Ohio, has traded First Baseman Frank Reynolds to Racine, Wis.

A. D. Dodson, Jr., is the new president of the reorganized Galveston club.

Frank Rock has been made secretary of the St. Joseph Western league club.

Managers McGraw and Bresnahan have five-year contracts with their clubs.

Spike Shannon, released by Kansas City, would like to land a job as an umpire.

All the recruits look good at present, but wait a month and many of them will vanish into the past.

John Dovey, formerly of the Boston National league club, will, according to report from Louisville, act as scout for Billy Grayson this season.

Buffalo will give Charles Pugh, a shortstop, another trial this year. He is a semi-pro who warmed the Bison bench for a while last summer.

Joe Cohn of the Spokane club wants the Northwestern league to take up the plan of numbering players recently adopted by the Pacific Coast league.

Hugh Duffy has signed a pitcher named Mathias Zieser. The former Sox leader is a diplomat and is making himself solid with all nationalities of people.

The Newark fans are all certain, and they are backed up by Joe McGinnity, that Bill Louden will be the find of the season. He is to be played at third by Hughie Jennings.

Johnny Evers, the brainy member of the Cubs, is angling for the purchase of the Albany (New York State league) club. Johnny is not flinching on quitting the big league, but he wants to be a magnate on the side.

Ed Howard says that he has no plans for the summer, but if any club wants the services of a good slugger as well as a political speaker he says that he will consider the proposition.

The temperance clause that was inserted in the contracts of the Pirates last year was of great benefit to the team in the estimation of Barney Dreyfuss, and he has himself signed one of the pledges for the coming season.

Manager Fred Clarke has just closed a deal for a half interest in the J. P. Haden Mills at Winfield, Kan. The mills are among the largest in southern Kansas and are expected to add many thousands of dollars to Clarke's yearly income.

Joe Adams, the scout who discovered Otis Crandall, and Arthur Wilson of the Glens, is not connected with the national pastime in any form at present. Adams was manager of the Mattoon (Ill.) team at the time he found the Glens' stars.

Manager Jack Tighe of the Louisville Colonels is kidding himself that he will get Eddie Lennox back from the Cubs to play third for the Colonels the coming season. If half of the reports about the ability of Lennox are true, Tighe will have to keep on kidding himself.

PROPOSED COUNTY ATLAS

The North-west Publishing Company of Philadelphia, has had an expert record man at work in the local court house for several months past. It is the intention to publish a detailed Atlas of the county, if it is thought feasible by those interested in a work of this character, which will require about a year's time to complete.

The township plats will show original surveys with numbers. All farms and tracts of land, with ownership, acreage, and location of dwelling, all roads, railroads, rivers, creeks, churches, schools, cemeteries, etc.

The village and city plats will be on a large scale, showing additions by colors, with names, lot numbers, and all recorded measurements of lots, streets and alleys, making a more detailed map of our city than has been so far published.

In addition to the record work, it is the intention to go over the county, submitting the various plats to property owners before completion, thereby insuring accuracy. In fact it is proposed to compile as complete, accurate and detailed a work as any ever published in the state. Washington C. H. and Union township have been drafted already and the drafts are being corrected.

It is to be hoped that the undertaking may be finally completed as our third. Our last county Atlas is now thirty-seven years old and of course does not show Fayette county of 1912.

This firm has recently published the new Atlases of Burke and Miami counties, which are admitted to be as near an official work as it is possible to make.

Golden Wedding Handsomely Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Morris celebrated their golden anniversary Wednesday with their children and sixty friends around them to offer congratulations upon their attaining to this half-century milestone in health and happiness.

It was a joyous and never-to-be-forgotten occasion. The home was beautifully embellished with a wealth of shell pink carnations and greenery, the gift of a friend of the son-in-law, Mr. A. L. Shultz, Mr. Grant, proprietor of the Brezort hotel of Chicago.

The guests contributed baskets that were filled with delicious viands to the beautiful preparations of the Morris home and Tom Eastman served a sumptuous dinner.

The two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Shultz, of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Estelle Morris, were assisted in the cordial hospitalities of the day by Mrs. John Morris and Mrs. Mahlon Holland.

Although the family had requested that there be no gifts, a few of the close relatives presented the smiling bridegroom and bride of 50 years ago with handsome remembrances of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris greatly enjoyed the day and did not seem at all fatigued. Two of the guests had been present in the Selsor home on the Midway pike, when Mr. Morris made Susanna Selsor his bride.

Capt. T. F. Parrett, who acted as best man, and Mrs. Electa Selsor. Mr. and Mrs. Morris both are members of pioneer Fayette county families and have lived here all their lives, with the exception of one year.

Mr. Morris has lived through 7 living generations, of whom he has seen all but one great-granddaughter, Mary Helen Barber, of St. Louis, who is soon coming to visit her great-grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris have three children, a grandchild and this one great-granddaughter. Their son, Fred, of London, was prevented by illness from being present.

Mrs. Morris is the only one of eight children now living; while Mr. Morris, one of a family of eight, has three sisters, Mrs. Albert Haines, Mrs. Sam Van Pelt, of above Bloomington; Mrs. Electa Selsor, of this city, and two brothers, W. W. and Matt Morris, of Bloomington, Ill.

After the dinner the afternoon was enjoyed in felicitations and informal music, piano and violin numbers by Mrs. Albert Haines, Dr. Howard L. Stitt, of Bloomington, and bass solos by Matt Morris.

Mrs. Armilda Johnson and Miss Julia Hyer, of Johnson's Crossing and Capt. and Mrs. T. F. Parrett, of Convent, were out of town guests outside of the family circle.

There are no real innocents. Even 14-year-old girls act the part.

Dastardly Attempt Made To Burn Grain Elevator

Unknown Incendiary Makes Unsuccessful Attempt to Burn Paul Brothers' Elevator at Bookwalter—Timely Discovery Prevents Disastrous Blaze.

Bookwalter narrowly escaped a disastrous blaze Friday when some unknown miscreant made an unsuccessful attempt to burn the grain elevator of Paul Brothers, and but for the timely discovery of the blaze, the elevator, a large storage building, office building and one or more residences would have gone up in smoke.

The blaze was discovered late in the morning, and had been kindled in a pile of coils which are said to have been saturated with kerosene, and upon which some pieces of coal had been placed in order that the blaze might hold until the side of the elevator ignited and ate its way through the walls and into the main part of the elevator itself, which would have burned like timber, and which contained a considerable quantity of grain.

It is claimed that there has been no doubt about the blaze being the doing of some unknown person, either young man, son, but whether of any particular age or old white.

children, or someone with a mania for kindling fires, is not known.

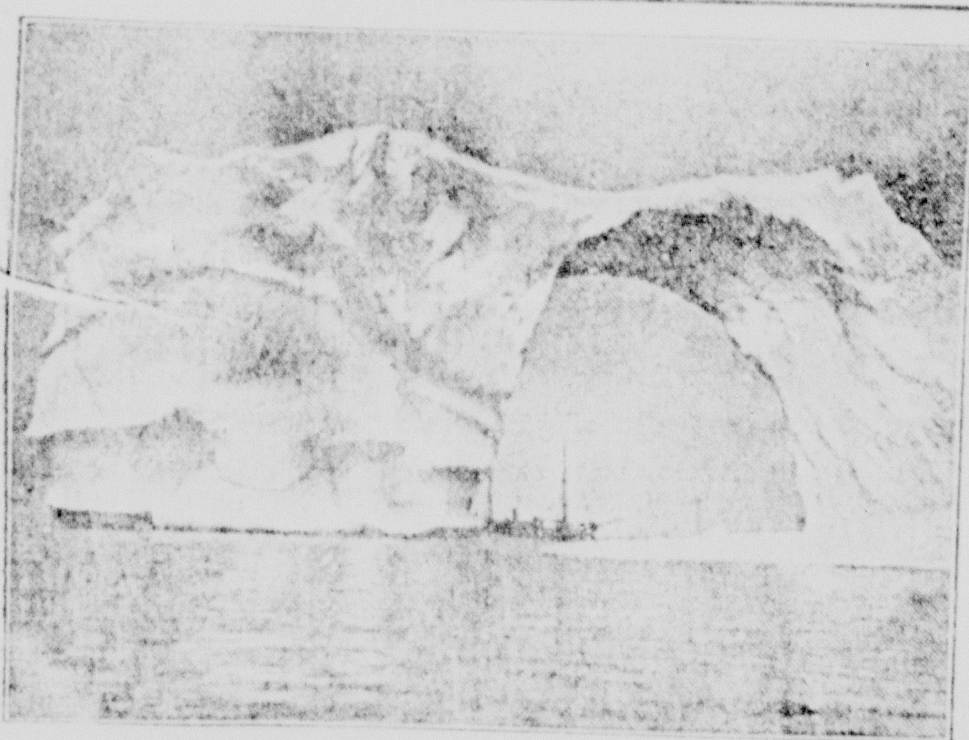

The fire was quickly extinguished and in a few minutes more would have been beyond control. The building was insured, but not in sufficient amount to cover the loss if it had been destroyed.

So far no arrests have been made, although it is hinted that a party is suspected of having attempted the deed. Whether the State Fire Marshal has been called upon to investigate, will develop later.

The elevator in question is located in the southern part of Bookwalter upon the Grasshopper railroad, and was formerly owned by Paul & Kiddle. A large amount of grain is stored in the elevator, which stands in the yard at one of the grain wharfs of the county.

The elevator was used to place in the hands of some unknown person of grain, either young man, son, but whether of any particular age or old white.

PROPOSED COUNTY ATLAS

The North-west Publishing Company of Philadelphia, has had an expert record man at work in the local court house for several months past. It is the intention to publish a detailed Atlas of the county, if it is thought feasible by those interested in a work of this character, which will require about a year's time to complete.

The township plats will show original surveys with numbers. All farms and tracts of land, with owners, ship, acreage, and location of dwelling, all roads, railroads, rivers, creeks, churches, schools, cemeteries, etc.

The village and city plats will be on a large scale, showing additions by colors, with names, lot numbers, and all recorded measurements of lots, streets and alleys, making a more detailed map of our city than has been so far published.

In addition to the record work, it is the intention to go over the county, submitting the various plats to property owners before completion, thereby insuring accuracy. In fact it is proposed to compile as complete, accurate and detailed a work as any ever published in the state. Washington C. H. and Union township have been drafted already and the drafts are being corrected.

It is to be hoped that the undertaking may be finally completed as outlined. Our last county Atlas is now thirty-seven years old and of course does not show Fayette county of 1912.

This firm has recently published the new Atlases of Dorke and Miami counties, which are admitted to be as near an official work as it is possible to make.

Golden Wedding Handsomely Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Morris celebrated their golden anniversary Wednesday with their children and sixty friends around them to offer congratulations upon their attaining to this half-century milestone in health and happiness.

It was a joyous and never-to-be-forgotten occasion. The home was beautifully embellished with a wealth of shell pink carnations and greenery, the gift of a friend of the son-in-law, Mr. A. L. Shultz, Mr. Grant, proprietor of the Bazaar hotel of Chicago.

The guests contributed baskets that were filled with delicious viands to the bountiful preparations of the Morris home and Tom Eastman served a sumptuous dinner.

The two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Shultz, of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Estelle Morris, were assisted in the cordial hospitalities of the day by Mrs. John Morris and Mrs. Mahlon Holland.

Although the family had requested that there be no gifts, a few of the close relatives presented the smiling bridegroom and bride of 50 years ago with handsome remembrances of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris greatly enjoyed the day and did not seem at all fatigued. Two of the guests had been present in the Selsor home on the Midway pike, when Mr. Morris made Susanna Selsor his bride.

Capt. T. F. Parrett, who acted as best man, and Mrs. Electa Selsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris both are members of pioneer Fayette county families and have lived here all their lives, with the exception of one year.

Mr. Morris has lived through 7 living generations, of whom he has seen all but one great-granddaughter, Mary Helen Barber, of St. Louis, who is soon coming to visit her great grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris have three children, a grandchildren and this one great-granddaughter. Their son, Fred, of London, was prevented by illness from being present.

Mrs. Morris is the only one of eight children now living, while Mr. Morris, one of a family of eight, has three sisters, Mrs. Albert Haines, Mrs. Sam Van Pelt, of above Bloomington; Mrs. Electa Selsor, of this city, and two brothers, W. W. and Matt Morris, of Bloomington, Ill.

After the dinner the afternoon was enjoyed in felicitations and informal music, piano and violin numbers by Mrs. Albert Haines, Dr. Howard L. Stitt of Bloomington, and bass solos by Matt Morris.

Mrs. Armilda Johnson and Miss Julia Hyer, of Johnson's Crossing, and Capt. and Mrs. T. F. Parrett, of Conventance, were out of town guests outside of the family circle.

There are no real ingenuities. Even 16-year-old girls act the part.

Upper House Of No Good

that the 13 members thus elected shall be known as the committee at large.

The committee at large will have a veto power over legislation passed by the house proper. Legislation disapproved by the committee at large would not go to the president for approval unless passed over the committee's veto by a two-thirds vote of the house. The Lindbergh resolution will provide that only native-born Americans shall be eligible for election to the committee at large. The reason for this is that with the office of vice president abolished, succession to the presidency is provided for through the committee. In the event of disability or the death of the president the Lindbergh plan provided that the chairman of the committee shall succeed to the office. The principle of the recall will be a prominent feature of the Lindbergh resolution. It will provide that any member of the house or any member of the committee at large may be recalled at any biennial election. "The senate is no longer responsive to public sentiment," said Mr. Lindbergh. "A house of 200 members could work more expeditiously and with better results than a house of 391 members, as at present."

BEAUTY IN FLIGHT

Carnegie Brings Many Troubles to Pittsburgh Stenographer.

Pittsburgh, March 23.—Miss Virginia Lee, the charming little stenographer whom Andrew Carnegie says is the prettiest girl in the world, is becoming rather weary of the sudden glare of publicity in which she has been projected so suddenly. Reporters are beginning to get the closed door and nothing doing signal when they approach the engineering offices in the Oliver building.

"Miss Lee took the story rather good-naturedly when it was first printed," said a member of the firm. "Now the poor girl is really ill because of the excitement and the congratulations that have been pouring in since the article appeared. We allowed her to go home early because she really seemed so nervous we were afraid she might collapse. She says she doesn't want to talk to anyone."

Seamen Vote to End Strike.

Chicago, March 23.—Bitter warfare waged on the Great Lakes since the calling of a general strike against vessel owners of the Lake Carriers' association in April, 1909, is ended. Union lake seamen, in a referendum vote, expressed their desire for peace by voting to work on "open shop" vessels. Action of the union seamen affects 15,000 men. They now can ship on Lake Carriers' association vessels without losing union cards.

EXPLOSION EXPLAINED

Match Said to Have Been Cause of McCurtain Disaster.

McCurtain, Okla., March 23.—The finding of the headless body of W. D. Rohrer, civil engineer in the San Bois mine here, offered a clue as to the cause of the explosion which, according to latest figures, snuffed out 80 men's lives. The fact that Rohrer's head was blown off indicates that he was at the center of the explosion, and the theory is advanced that he struck a match to light a pipe, setting off the gas.

Buckeyes Have Saving Habit.

Washington, March 23.—According to statements made public at the postoffice department, on Jan. 31, 1912, there were 302 postal savings depositories in operation in Ohio, with deposits amounting to approximately $1,100,000. This amount was deposited by about 15,000 people and shows an average of $84 per depositor.

Rebels Take Asuncion.

Buenos Ayres, March 23.—The rebels have captured Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay.

TO MEDIATE STRIKE

Congress Will Pass Act Enabling President to Offer Services.

Washington, March 23.—An effort will be made to rush through congress a bill authorizing the president to mediate in coal strikes. This proposition will be in the form of an amendment to the Erdman act which now gives the United States commissioner of labor and the chairman of the interstate commerce commission authority to act as mediators in railroad strikes affecting interstate traffic. The amendment will be introduced in the house by Representative O'Donoghue and Lee of Pennsylvania. It will be designed of course, to give the president authority to offer his service as mediator in the event of the failure of negotiations to avert the coal strike.

Coal Conference Declared Off.

Washington, March 21.—After a conference between President Taft and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel the announcement was made that there will be no conference in regard to the coal strike at the White House at this time. No reason was announced for the determination not to hold the conference. Notices will be sent to Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell that the conferences will not be held.

WILL EXPLORE THE DEAD SEA

German Scientists, Headed by Dr. Ludwig Bruhl, to Take Part in Expedition.

An expedition for thorough scientific exploration of the Dead Sea has been arranged. Reports concerning it have been in circulation for some time, and now the distinguished scientists who compose the party are in Jerusalem and are to embark on a motor boat which was repaired for the trip on or about November 15. This boat was used for the past few years to carry wheat from the south end of the Dead Sea to its northern shores, whence it is transported by camels to Jerusalem. This craft was wrecked and badly damaged a few months ago. By arrangement with its owners, the business manager of the expedition had the boat thoroughly repaired and overhauled for the use of the expedition.

The members of the expedition are: Dr. Ludwig Bruhl, who leads the enterprise and who undertakes the hydrographic and biological work; Professor R. Koefoed, assisted by Dr. S. P. L. Sorensen, head of the chemical department of the well known "Karlsberg Laboratories," the means for the chemical researches being furnished by the Karlsberg fund in Copenhagen and Herman Schoede of Berlin.

It is planned that these scientists shall devote about three months to this work, returning to Europe about the end of January. Of this time thirty or forty days will be spent on the Dead Sea itself, and the rest of the time in land work ashore. It is announced that the investigations will follow on the same line with the United States survey of the Dead Sea by Lieutenant Lynch in 1848, as far as that admirable work extended. It will follow up the lines of the late sultan of Turkey Dr. Blankenhorn made investigations in different scientific directions a few years ago, whose preliminary report touched on many questions of much interest, but, as far as the writer can ascertain, his final report has not been made accessible to scholars generally.

It is popularly asserted that the depth of the Dead Sea has been gradually increasing during the last few decades—that is not to say that the waters have been steadily encroaching on the shores. This apparently is proved by the existence of partly submerged forests on the east shore and by gradual disappearance of an island that appears in sketches and photographs of the north end of the sea made thirty or forty years ago. This question will doubtless be authoritatively decided by the investigations about to be made.

RAZE FIRST THEATER IN U. S.

Philadelphia Landmark Being Demolished—Built Against Opposition in 1759.

Philadelphia.—The building occupied by the first theater in the United States is being demolished to make way for a big business establishment. The early theater was built in 1759 and opened a year later with Hallam's company of players from England.

So great was the opposition to a theater in Philadelphia that the building was located just outside the confines of the city proper, in the old district of Southwark, in a locality then in ill-repute, known to the wits of the town as "Society Hill," but even there efforts were made to suppress it. The theater burned in 1821, but was rebuilt, and in recent years had been used as a distillery.

MADE AUTO EARN ITS KEEP

South Dakotan Uses Machine in Bad Weather to Complete a Farm Power Plant.

Bijon Hills, S. D.—C. B. Creamer, a farmer near here, has been able to make his automobile "earn its keep" since the roads became too bad for automobiles. Last fall he took the engine from his 40-horsepower car and mounted it upon a substantial base in a frost proof building. Taking the governor from his talking machine he attached it to the engine and has completed a power plant with which he grinds feed, shells corn and runs the churn and grindstone.

SPRAYING

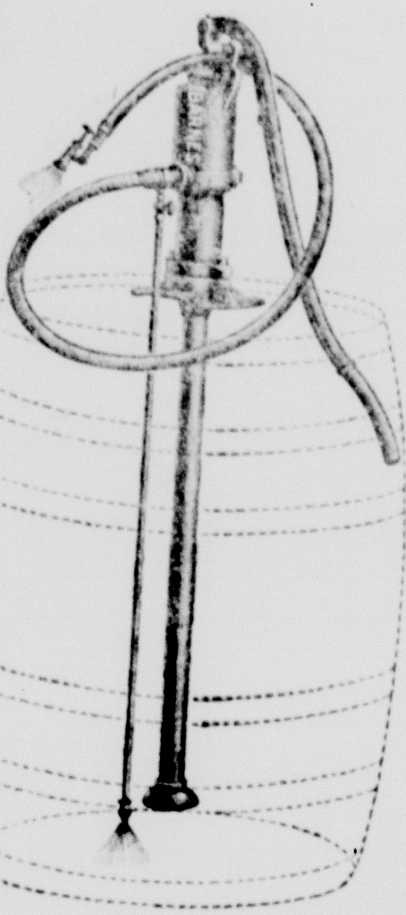

Puts money in your pocket, saves your trees, keeps them healthy, improves the fruit, increases the yield, prevents tree diseases, kills the insects, puts the orchard on a paying basis, prevents the spread of diseases and pests from your trees to those of your neighbor, and last, but not least, complies with the law.

Spraying is no experiment. For years the more enterprising farmers have sprayed their trees. Those owning our spraying machines have also been able to use them for whitewashing, for washing buggles, spraying shrubbery, gooseberry bushes, potatoe and tomato vines, cabbage, etc. It pays.

Now the State law commands all having 10 or more trees, to spray them before April 30.

In view of all the circumstances The Herald Pub. Co. has undertaken to be of service to its patrons. We realize that in a short time everybody will regularly spray their trees. It therefore follows that a great many will buy sprayers.

There are a great many on the market, many very good, some worthless. We have selected standard machines—The Barnes—carried in stock by Willard E. Martin, North Fayette street, sold and guaranteed by him, and will offer them to our subscribers in combination with The Herald or Ohio State Register at virtually the price of the machines alone.

OFFER NO. I BARNES' BARREL SPRAY PUMP

that the 15 members thus elected shall be known as the committee at large.

The committee at large will have a veto power over legislation passed by the house proper. Legislation disapproved by the committee at large would not go to the president for approval unless passed over the committee's veto by a two-thirds vote of the house. The Lindbergh resolution will provide that only native-born Americans shall be eligible for election to the committee at large. The reason for this is that with the office of vice president abolished, succession to the presidency is provided for through the committee. In the event of disability or the death of the president the Lindbergh plan provided that the chairman of the committee shall succeed to the office.

The principle of the recall will be a prominent feature of the Lindbergh resolution. It will provide that any member of the house or any member of the committee at large may be recalled at any biennial election.

"The senate is no longer responsive to public sentiment," said Mr. Lindbergh. "A house of 300 members could work more expeditiously and with better results than a house of 391 members, as at present."

BEAUTY IN FLIGHT

Carnegie Brings Many Troubles to Pittsburgh Stenographer.

Pittsburg, March 23.—Miss Virginia Lee, the charming little stenographer whom Andrew Carnegie says is the prettiest girl in the world, is becoming rather weary of the sudden glare of publicity in which she has been projected so suddenly. Reporters are beginning to get the closed door and nothing doing signal when they approach the engineering offices in the Oliver building.

"Miss Lee took the story rather good naturedly when it was first printed," said a member of the firm. "Now the poor girl is really ill because of the excitement and the congratulations that have been pouring in since the article appeared. We allowed her to go home early because she really seemed so nervous we were afraid she might collapse. She says she doesn't want to talk to anyone."

Seamen Vote to End Strike.

Chicago, March 23.—Bitter warfare waged on the Great Lakes since the calling of a general strike against vessel owners of the Lake Carriers' association in April, 1909, is ended. Union lake seamen, in a referendum vote, expressed their desire for peace by voting to work on "open shop" vessels. Action of the union seamen affects 15,000 men. They now can ship on Lake Carriers' association vessels without losing union cards.

EXPLOSION EXPLAINED

Match Said to Have Been Cause of McCurtain Disaster.

McCurain, Okla., March 23.—The finding of the headless body of W. D. Rohrer, civil engineer in the San Bois mine here, offered a clue as to the cause of the explosion which, according to latest figures, snuffed out 80 men's lives. The fact that Rohrer's head was blown off indicates that he was at the center of the explosion, and the theory is advanced that he struck a match to light a pipe, setting off the gas.

Buckeyes Have Saving Habit.

Washington, March 23.—According to statements made public at the postoffice department, on Jan. 31, 1912, there were 302 postal savings depositories in operation in Ohio, with deposits amounting to approximately $1,100,000. This amount was deposited by about 15,000 people and shows an average of $4 per depositor.

Rebels Take Asuncion.

Buenos Ayres, March 23.—The rebels have captured Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay.

TO MEDIATE STRIKE

Congress Will Pass Act Enabling President to Offer Services.

Washington, March 23.—An effort will be made to rush through congress a bill authorizing the president to mediate in coal strikes. This proposition will be in the form of an amendment to the Erdman act, which now gives the United States commissioner of labor and the chairman of the interstate commerce commission authority to act as mediators in railroad strikes affecting interstate traffic. The amendment will be introduced in the house by Representatives Grubb and Lee of Pennsylvania. It will be designed of course, to give the president authority to offer his service as mediator in the event of the failure of negotiations to avert the coal strike.

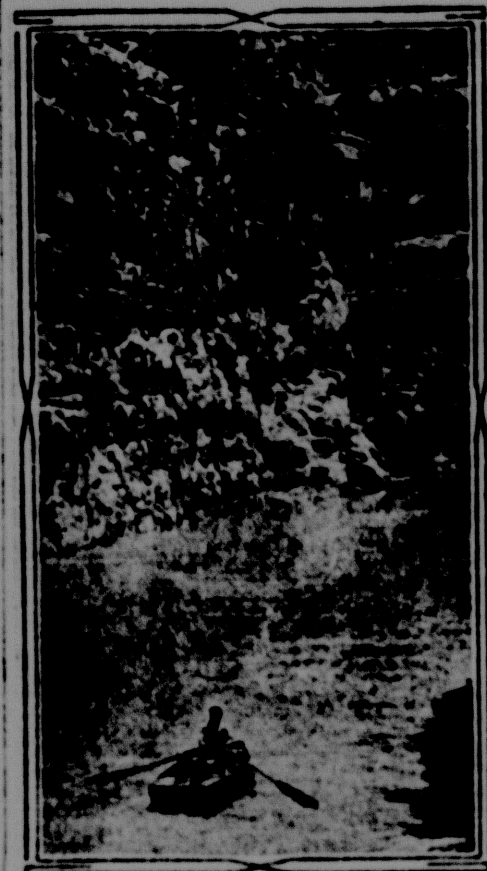

Coal Conference Declared Off.

Washington, March 21.—After a conference between President Taft and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel the announcement was made that there will be no conference in regard to the coal strike at the White House at this time. No reason was announced for the determination not to hold the conferences. Notices will be sent to Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell that the conferences will not be held.

WILL EXPLORE THE DEAD SEA

German Scientists, Headed by Dr. Ludwig Bruhl, to Take Part in Expedition.

An expedition for thorough scientific exploration of the Dead Sea has been arranged. Reports concerning it have been in circulation for some time, and now the distinguished scientists who compose the party are in Jerusalem and are to embark on a motor boat which was repaired for the trip on or about November 15. This boat was used for the past few years to carry wheat from the south end of the Dead Sea to its northern shores, whence it is transported by camels to Jerusalem. This craft was wrecked and badly damaged a few months ago. By arrangement with its owners, the business manager of the expedition had the boat thoroughly repaired and overhauled for the use of the expedition.

The members of the expedition are: Dr. Ludwig Bruhl, who leads the enterprise and who undertakes the hydrographic and biological work; Director R. Koefoed, assisted by Prof. S. P. L. Sorensen, head of the chemical department of the well known "Karlsherg-Laboratorium," the means for the chemical researches being furnished by the Karlsherg fund in Copenhagen and Herman Schoede of Berlin.

It is planned that these scientists shall devote about three months to this work, returning to Europe about the end of January. Of this time thirty or forty days will be spent on the Dead Sea itself, and the rest of the time in land work ashore. It is announced that the investigations will follow on the same line with the United States survey of the Dead Sea by Lieutenant Lynch in 1848, as far as that admirable work extended. It will follow up the lines of the Duke de Layne's explorations in 1864. Since these dates no important hydrographic or chemical researches have been made. At the command of the late sultan of Turkey Dr. Hiankenhorn made investigations in different scientific directions a few years ago, whose preliminary report touched on many questions of much interest, but, as far as the writer can ascertain, his final report has not been made accessible to scholars generally.

It is popularly asserted that the depth of the Dead Sea has been gradually increasing during the last few decades—that is not to say that the waters have been steadily encroaching on the shores. Big Deposit of
Potash Found

Enough potash to supply the United States probably for the next thirty years has been discovered by government scientists in Searles lake, San Bernardino county, California. The estimate of the geological survey and the bureau of soils is that the deposit may amount to 4,000,000 tons.

The great value of the find is that the product is in readily available commercial form. The dried-up lake has received the drainage from the surrounding hills for thousands of years.

Timber As a
Farm Crop

The growing of timber as a farm crop has gained a permanent place in agriculture. Each time a thrifty farmer sees a neighbor cutting a supply of fence posts and obtaining, out of the same stock, enough fire wood to pay for the work, or selling on the stump a quantity of saw timber, the product of a far sighted investment of fifteen or twenty-five years ago, he realizes more keenly the importance of the wood crop. A farm without a good wood lot is incomplete.

Where the rainfall is heavy the wood lot can be maintained on land not the best for other purposes, while in a region where good land must be selected, it is the opinion of experienced men that the trees pay for the ground they occupy in protection to the farmstead, the orchard or adjoining fields. With the shelter of a windbreak, less feed is required to winter stock, danger to an orchard from late frosts is reduced and the comfort of the home, as well as its beauty, is greatly increased. Indeed, some owners have estimated the value of good groves at $1000 an acre, on the ground that the value of their property is increased to that extent by the trees. Where the forest has been given attention, the returns have yielded a net profit of $4, $6, $8 and $10 per acre. The choice of species, methods of planting and care, suitability of the soil and local market condition may vary so widely that it is difficult to generalize for the country as a whole. However in every state a share of the farm can be devoted to growing timber with a profit in some cases nearly or quite equal to that obtained from agricultural crops. In addition, protection, the convenience of having farm repair material at hand and increase of farm values are secured.

that night and saw Cetone and Detective Smiley talking together on a couch. He said Cetone introduced him to the detective, calling him Mr. Smiley.

The detective was not generally known as Smiley until later, when the bribery cases were sprung and indictments returned by the grand jury. He was known as "Harrison," the name under which he registered at the Chittenden hotel and by which name he was alleged to have been known to the legislators.

To add strength to the testimony of the senators who had been helping him with his alibi, Senator Huffman took the witness stand in his own behalf and denied in toto that he had ever seen Detective Smiley before the trial, that he visited the Chittenden hotel April 27 and that he ever received a cent from the detective or from anyone to influence his vote on a pending measure. He said he was not away from the senate chamber that afternoon until 6 o'clock, when he went out to dinner with his wife, who called for him.

Praise Given
Dave Trousdale

Mr. Trousdale, express messenger on a Southern Pacific train, is a citizen to whom everybody should take off his hat in respect and admiration. He is a hero without flaw—an American to be proud of. Instead of following the universal custom of train crews and messengers of submitting meekly and unresistingly to robbers and "hold-up" men, and shivering in fear, Mr. Trousdale kept his presence of mind and also his nerve and when opportunity offered—an opportunity made by himself—he clabbled to death one of the two bandits who was robbing the train, then took the miscreant's pistol and shot the life out of the dead man's partner. Incidentally, there is nothing to show that Trousdale knew there were only two. He was simply eliminating those that came his way and could presumably have taken care of more in the same manner. The young express messenger deserves a reward larger than he will probably get, but he has at least established his fame as the right man in the right place—a man equal to his job even in emergencies. —Indianapolis Star.

Jews Going In
For Farming

The twelfth annual report of the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society has just made its appearance and it contains some very interesting information regarding the work of the society and in general concerning the Jewish farming contingent throughout the United States. The prevailing idea that the immigrant, and particularly the Jew, hugs the Atlantic seaboard is an erroneous one. The report shows that Jewish farmers are found in every state of the Union. While no actual census has been attempted, the society keeps in touch as far as possible with the Jewish farmers throughout the country and has come into contact with almost 4,000 Jewish farming families, estimated to comprise about 20,000 souls, depending upon the farm for a living. This number by no means represents the total Jewish farming population, and the number is constantly on the increase.

The Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid Society encourages Jewish immigrants to take up farming and helps them with loans upon easy terms, and at low rates of interest, as well as by advice and the dissemination of agricultural knowledge. In 1911 the society granted 334 loans, aggregating $256,000.

An interesting phase of the society's agricultural activity is the granting of free short-course scholarships in the agricultural colleges. The object of these scholarships is to give the children of Jewish farmers an idea of the possibilities of agriculture and to prepare them for greater usefulness on their home farms. As the courses are given during the winter months, the absence from home in no way interferes with the farming operations. —Indianapolis News.

Billion Dollar
Suit Coming

Another record will be knocked into a cocked hat when the government institutes the biggest suit ever brought in the history of the world to recover lands in California, or rather to enforce the terms of the patents issued to those lands, as is likely to be done within the next thirty days.

The suit will be brought against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which is a subsidiary concern of the railroad, and against other defendants.

The amount at issue, to be conservative, is about $1,000,000,000. The government has been preparing for this suit for the better part of a year. The railroad has been preparing for it for the last forty years, and yet the government thinks it will win.

Under the act approved July 27, 1866, the Southern Pacific was granted a large quantity of land in California. Congress in the strongest terms, excepted mineral lands from the grant. The Department of the Interior carried this exception into the patents. The railroad company accepted the patents as a correct definition of its title under the grant.

It is the purpose of the government now to institute suit to enforce this exception and establish the title of the United States to such of the lands as are mineral.

It is probable that between 125,000 and 150,000 acres of the land will ultimately be involved in this litigation, and its value is believed to be between $6,000 and $7,000 an acre.

"It will be the biggest lawsuit the world ever knew," said one representative of the government. He added: "The government is making the necessary preparations for a lawsuit of that difficulty and that importance." The suit will involve most of the railroad holdings in the vicinity of Coalinga.

It was some time last May or June that the Attorney General decided to bring suit where the Southern Pacific patents make an exception of mineral lands.

It has been alleged by the railroad that if the government is right regarding the mineral clause in the California patents, litigation will never end, and that title will never be secure. The government replies to this that under its suit to identify these lands, the definition of government lands is conclusive.

Try to Prove
It With Figures

The complete report of the United States Steel corporation for 1911 just issued, shows a decrease of $24,749,288 in earnings and a decrease of $32,271,799 in net earnings. Total individual surplus, exclusive of profits earned by subsidiaries on inter-company scales, is $133,681,195 as against $164,143,157 the previous year. Surplus net income is $4,465,494, a decrease of $32,106,888.

The balance of surplus for the year shows a shrinkage of $6,106,888, despite the failure of the corporation to set aside any money for account of expenditures for additional properties, discharge of capital obligations or additional outlay on the Gary plant, for all of which the sum of $25,000,000 was appropriated in 1910.

The report shows that the average number of employees in 1911 was 196,888 against 218,435 in 1910 with total annual salaries of $161,419,031 as compared with $174,955,139 in 1910.

REPELS ATTACK OF DEATH.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Col. "They told me I would die with consumption. It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for today I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." It's folly to suffer with coughs, colds or other throat and lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Big Deposit of Potash Found

Enough potash to supply the United States probably for the next thirty years has been discovered by government scientists in Searles lake, San Bernardino county, California. The estimate of the geological survey and the bureau of soils is that the deposit may amount to 4,000,000 tons.

The great value of the find is that the product is in readily available commercial form. The dried-up lake has received the drainage from the surrounding hills for thousands of years.

Timber As a Farm Crop

The growing of timber as a farm crop has gained a permanent place in agriculture. Each time a thrifty farmer sees a neighbor cutting a supply of fence posts and obtaining out of the same stock, enough firewood to pay for the work, or selling on the stump a quantity of saw timber, the product of a far sighted investment of fifteen or twenty-five years ago, he realizes more keenly the importance of the wood crop. A farm without a good wood lot is incomplete.

Where the rainfall is heavy the wood lot can be maintained on land not the best for other purposes, while in a region where good land must be selected, it is the opinion of experienced men that the trees pay for the ground they occupy in protection to the farmstead, the orchard or adjoining fields. With the shelter of a windbreak, less feed is required to winter stock, danger to an orchard from late frosts is reduced and the comfort of the home, as well as its beauty, is greatly increased. Indeed, some owners have estimated the value of good groves at $1000 an acre, on the ground that the value of their property is increased to that extent by the trees. Where the forest has been given attention, the returns have yielded a net profit of $4, $6, $8 and $10 per acre. The choice of species, methods of planting and care, suitability of the soil and local market condition may vary so widely that it is difficult to generalize for the country as a whole. However in every state a share of the farm can be devoted to growing timber with a profit in some cases nearly or quite equal to that obtained from agricultural crops. In addition, protection, the convenience of having farm repair material at hand and increase of farm values are secured.

Jews Going In For Farming

The twelfth annual report of the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society has just made its appearance and it contains some very interesting information regarding the work of the society and in general concerning the Jewish farming contingent throughout the United States. The prevailing idea that the immigrant, and particularly the Jew, hugs the Atlantic seaboard is an erroneous one. The report shows that Jewish farmers are found in every state of the Union. While no actual census has been attempted, the society keeps in touch as far as possible with the Jewish farmers throughout the country and has come into contact with almost 4,000 Jewish farming families, estimated to comprise about 20,000 souls, depending upon the farm for a living. This number by no means represents the total Jewish farming population, and the number is constantly on the increase.

The Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid Society encourages Jewish immigrants to take up farming and helps them with loans upon easy terms, and at low rates of interest, as well as by advice and the dissemination of agricultural knowledge. In 1911 the society granted 331 loans, aggregating $256,000.

An interesting phase of the society's agricultural activity is the granting of free short-course scholarships in the agricultural colleges. The object of these scholarships is to give the children of Jewish farmers an idea of the possibilities of agriculture and to prepare them for greater usefulness on their home farms. As the courses are given during the winter months, the absence from home in no way interferes with the farming operations.—Indianapolis News.

Adds Ginger To The Trial

that night and saw Cetone and Detective Smiley talking together on a couch. He said Cetone introduced him to the detective, calling him Mr. Smiley.

The detective was not generally known as Smiley until later, when the bribery cases were sprung and indictments returned by the grand jury. He was known as "Harrison," the name under which he registered at the Chittenden hotel and by which name he was alleged to have been known to the legislators.

To add strength to the testimony of the senators who had been helping him with his alibi, Senator Huffman took the witness stand in his own behalf and denied in toto that he ever had seen Detective Smiley before the trial, that he visited the Chittenden hotel April 27 and that he ever received a cent from the detective or from anyone to influence his vote on a pending measure. He said he was not away from the senate chamber that afternoon until 6 o'clock, when he went out to dinner with his wife, who called for him.

Praise Given Dave Trousdale

Mr. Trousdale, express messenger on a Southern Pacific train, is a citizen to whom everybody should take off his hat in respect and admiration. He is a hero without flaw—an American to be proud of. Instead of following the universal custom of train crews and messengers of submitting meekly and unresistingly to robbers and "hold-up" men, and shivering in fear, Mr. Trousdale kept his presence of mind and also his nerve and when opportunity offered—an opportunity made by himself—he clubbed to death one of the two bandits who was robbing the train, then took the miscreant's pistol and shot the life out of the dead man's partner. Incidentally, there is nothing to show that Trousdale knew there were only two. He was simply eliminating those that came his way and could presumably have taken care of more in the same manner. The young express messenger deserves a reward larger than he will probably get, but he has at least established his fame as the right man in the right place—a man equal to his job even in emergencies.—Indianapolis Star.

Try to Prove It With Figures

The complete report of the United States Steel corporation for 1911 just issued, shows a decrease of $24,749,288 in earnings and a decrease of $32,271,799 in net earnings. Total individual surplus, exclusive of profits earned by subsidiaries on inter-company sales, is $133,681,195 as against $164,143,157 the previous year. Surplus net income is $1465,494, a decrease of $32,106,888.

The balance of surplus for the year shows a shrinkage of $6,106,888, despite the failure of the corporation to set aside any money for account of expenditures for additional properties, discharge of capital obligations or additional outlay on the Gary plant, for all of which the sum of $25,000,000 was appropriated in 1910.

The report shows that the average number of employees in 1911 was 196,888 against 218,435 in 1910 with total annual salaries of $161,419,931 as compared with $174,955,129 in 1910.

REPELS ATTACK OF DEATH.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Col. "They told me I would die with consumption. It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for today I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." It's folly to suffer with coughs, colds or other throat and lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Blackmer.

Billion Dollar Suit Coming

Another record will be knocked into a cocked hat when the government institutes the biggest suit ever brought in the history of the world to recover lands in California, or rather to enforce the terms of the patents issued to those lands, as is likely to be done within the next thirty days.

The suit will be brought against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which is a subsidiary concern of the railroad, and against other defendants.

The amount at issue, to be conservative, is about $1,000,000,000. The government has been preparing for this suit for the better part of a year. The railroad has been preparing for it for the last forty years, and yet the government thinks it will win.

Under the act approved July 27, 1866, the Southern Pacific was granted a large quantity of land in California. Congress in the strongest terms, excepted mineral lands from the grant. The Department of the Interior carried this exception into the patents. The railroad company accepted the patents as a correct definition of its title under the grant.

It is the purpose of the government now to institute suit to enforce this exception and establish the title of the United States to such of the lands as are mineral.

It is probable that between 125,000 and 150,000 acres of the land will ultimately be involved in this litigation, and its value is believed to be between $6,000 and $7,000 an acre.

"It will be the biggest lawsuit the world ever knew," said one representative of the government. He added: "The government is making the necessary preparations for a lawsuit of that difficulty and that importance." The suit will involve most of the railroad holdings in the vicinity of Combinga.

It was some time last May or June that the Attorney General decided to bring suit where the Southern Pacific patents make an exception of mineral lands.

It has been alleged by the railroad that if the government is right regarding the mineral clause in the California patents, litigation will never end, and that title will never be secure. The government replies to this that under its suit to identify these lands, the definition of government lands is conclusive.
